This summer, Vincent Cianni, an award winning documentary photographer is leading “The Narrative in Photography.” Combining both images and text, this workshop will explore the possibilities of telling a story or expressing your ideas through a narrative. The medium and material can be either digital images or traditional darkroom prints. This is Mr. Cianni’s first time to offer a workshop in Philadelphia area.

Learning Your Digital SLR I & II

This summer, we are offering this popular class again and have added an advanced section as well. During this one day class, students will gain a basic understanding of modern sophisticated digital SLR cameras. The advanced class will also cover use of the built-in and clip-on flash as well as taking advantage of raw files for better control of your photographs.
